

HORIZONS

The Journal of the COLLEGE THEOLOGY SOCIETY

Horizons publishes award-winning peer-reviewed articles, roundtables, and book reviews across a wide range of topics in theology and religious studies. While rooted in a commitment to the long and deep Catholic tradition of “faith seeking understanding,” that commitment also welcomes all original scholarship in theology and religious studies that contributes to its basic constructive focus. It is unique in content with its ecumenical view, wide range of methods and topics, and insightful analysis of belief interacting with culture. Horizons publishes work by college and university professors with both active research profiles and teaching experience.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM RECENT ISSUES

ARTICLES

Personhood as Ongoing Gift from Others and to Others | Joseph Bracken

Beyond Procreation: Reading Aquinas in the Context of Involuntary Childlessness in West and Central Africa | Joseph Loic Mben

Making the Invisible Visible: Inviting Persons with Disabilities Into the Life of the Church | Mary Carlson

Educating in/for Caritas: Pedagogy of Friendship for Catholic Higher Education in Our Divided Time | Timothy Hanchin

Black Lives Matter and Catholic Whiteness: A Tale of Two Performances | Michael P. Jaycox

“Keeping Vigil” and the Response of a Believer to Grief and Suffering | James G. Sabak, OFM

Emerging Trends in Pregnancy Loss Memorialization in American Catholicism | Maureen L. Walsh

Emerging Principles of a Theology of Shalom | Philip A. Cunningham

REVIEW SYMPOSIUM

Buddhist Nonduality, Paschal Paradox: A Christian Commentary on the Teaching of Vimalakirti (Vimalakirtinirdeśa) | Joseph S. O’Leary

Four Perspectives | Malcolm David Eckel • S. Mark Heim • John Makransky • Won-Jae Hur

Author’s Response | Joseph S. O’Leary

THEOLOGICAL ROUNDTABLES

Must Just Peace and Just War be Mutually Exclusive?

Tobias Winright • Drew Christiansen, SJ • Laurie Johnston • Mark J. Allman

Dissenting Church: New Models for Conflict and Diversity in the Roman Catholic Tradition

Bradford Hinze • Richard Gaillardetz • Michelle Gonzalez Maldonado • Mara Willard • Jason Steidl • John Slattery • Judith Gruber

Luther’s Ninety-Five Theses: Ecumenical Prospects on Its Quincentennial

The Reverend Elizabeth A. Eaton • Catherine E. Clifford • Michael Root • The Reverend Antje Jackelen • Carter Lindberg

EDITORIAL TEAM

EDITOR

Elena G. Procaro-Foley
Iona College, USA

ASSISTANT EDITORS

Gerald J. Beyer
Villanova University, USA

Christopher Denny
St John’s University, USA

BOOK REVIEW EDITORS

Christopher McMahon
Saint Vincent College, USA

Mary Kate Birge, SSJ
Mount St. Mary’s University, USA

MANAGING EDITOR

Christine Bucher

CHAIR OF THE EDITORIAL BOARD

Anthony J. Godzieba
Villanova University, USA

EDITORIAL BOARD

Please visit
cambridge.org/hor/
editorial-board
for the full
Editorial Board listing

For more information about the COLLEGE THEOLOGY SOCIETY, please visit www.collegetheology.org

Cambridge
Core

cambridge.org/hor

Endorsements for HORIZONS: The Journal of the College Theology Society

Horizons is a journal of impressive breadth and consistent quality. It is worth subscribing to for the book review section alone, which is thorough enough to keep one in touch with almost everything of interest happening in the English-speaking world.

Karen Kilby, Bede Professor of Catholic Theology, University of Durham

Horizons, as its evocative title suggests, is a journal concerned with exploring the most important questions facing the church and the theological community for our time. It actively seeks to broaden the range of perspectives brought to bear upon those questions and to meet the greatest needs of Christian theology today. It embodies an open and ecumenical engagement across communities and with the wider world that represents the church at its faithful best. Never afraid to engage the difficult and controversial issues challenging today's church, Horizons has firmly established itself among that elite group of must-read quality journals for Christian scholars worldwide.

Gerard Mannion, Georgetown University

Horizons is an invaluable resource for thoughtful essays across the theological spectrum and splendid book reviews and review essays (with authors' responses). As one of the premier theological journals in the USA, it is a boon to every teaching scholar in theology.

Terrence W. Tilley, Avery Cardinal Dulles, S.J., Professor of Catholic Theology, Fordham University

It is necessary reading for all college and university teachers as well as for those interested in the current state of theology.

Francis Schüssler Fiorenza, Harvard Divinity School

For those of us engaged in the study of religion and theology, Horizons has constantly been a trustworthy and informative companion. The articles it publishes are without fail solidly researched, lucidly written, and at the cutting edge. One commendable feature of the journal is providing emerging scholars with a venue to publicize their fresh ideas. Another is its promotion of excellence in the teaching of religion and theology at the college level. Yet another exciting feature is the discussion forum on significant publications. I know of no other journal that does these various things so well. I most strongly recommend it to religion scholars and theologians, both beginners and veterans, as one of the best journals in religion and theology in the English language.

Peter C. Phan, The Ignacio Ellacuria Chair of Catholic Social Thought, Georgetown University

INTERESTED IN CONTRIBUTING?

Manuscript submissions to the journal should be between 25 and 30 pages, not including notes. On rare occasions, the editors will give consideration to a lengthier submission of exceptional quality. The text and bibliographic documentation of the manuscript must conform to the Chicago Manual of Style (CMOS), 17th edition. We require that authors use endnotes rather than footnotes and that they double-space the entire manuscript.

Manuscripts must have a separate title page that includes the author's name, affiliation, e-mail address, postal address, an abstract of no more than 150 words, and an author vita of no more than 50 words. The author's name should appear nowhere else in the manuscript. All references to the author's work in the text or notes should be in the third person.

For the full instructions for contributors, please visit cambridge.org/hor/ifc

